FIFTEEN SENIORS REPRESENT MADISON IN "WHO'S WHO"

Martha Lee, From Emporia, Virginia Elected Posture Queen By Students

Martha Lee, a senior from Emporia, Virginia, was elected posture queen by members of the student body in assembly Monday. Martha is president of the German dance club, and of Wesley foundation, and a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha and the Granddaughters club.

Other candidates in the finals were Jinx Farmer, Virginia Watson, June King, Fern Waters, Sarah Ferland, Katherine Nelson, Amy Sanders, Betty Miller, Velva Shumate, Joyce Watkins, Mary Love, Lorraine Foster.

The girls were chosen on the basis of their posture—the way they sit, stand and hold themselves. They must hold their head in line with their shoulders and hips, balance their weight well, walk with their feet pointing straight ahead, and walk gracefully when they are wearing heels.

The contest to determine the girl with the best posture at Madison was sponsored by the Frances Sale club in order to make Madison's students more posture conscious.

MARTHA LEE

Two Madison Girls On College Board Of "Mademoiselle"

By Irene Munson

"I was so excited and surprised to see the pink envelope in my P. O. box that I just stood in the P. O. and cried," said Betty Broome, Madison sophomore, as she described her happiness at being chosen one of "Mademoiselle's" college board members.

Ginny Watson, a Madison Junior, who also received an announcement of her selection as a college board member, said,

"I was so excited and befuddled when I received my announcement that I had to get my room-mate to read it to me again. I just couldn't believe it!"

The two Madison girls competed in a nationwide contest sponsored by the young women's magazine, "Mademoiselle," to select college students to fill the magazine's college board positions.

Each applicant submitted a trial report emphasizing a new phase in the campus activities of her school. In addition, they wrote letters telling about the organizations and activities with which they are associated in college and their plans after graduation.

"I wrote about the Modern Dance club and its depiction of the child opera, 'Peter and the Wolf,' Ginny said. "I emphasized the fact that this was the first time the club had ever attempted the choreography for a child opera."

Betty Broome submitted a trial report describing the monthly YWCA birthday dinners which are held at Madison for the students who have had birthdays during the month.

The two Madison winners will be required to complete four assignments this year. The twenty most outstanding college board members will be appointed as guest editors for "Mademoiselle's" college issue, and will have the opportunity to spend the month of July, 1947, in the New York offices of the magazine.

LIBRARY NOTICE

The library will be open during the Thanksgiving holidays, announces Mr. Haynes McMullen, librarian.

Hours will be from 2 to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, 2 to 4 p.m. on Friday, and 10 to 12 a.m. on Saturday.

Students remaining on campus for the vacation period may use the library at these hours.

Stratford Gives One-Act Plays

Stratford Dramatic club's first public presentation will be December 6, at 8 p.m. in Wilson Auditorium. The program will be composed of three one-act plays; the settings of all are in a park.

"The Lady Loses Her Hoop," by Leisa Wilson is a sad tale in sadder verse. Done in the old melodramatic style when the villain, played by Dick Thompson, steals a secret paper which has been placed in the keeping of Sir Roger (Beryl Snellings). The heroine, Lady Phyllis, played by Ramona Fawley, comes to the rescue, but her hoop causes her trouble. The hoop in question is one that is worn, and not one that is rolled.

"The Wonder Hat" is a fantasy written by Goodwin and Hecht. The players are consistent stage characters whose early history is connected with the de'Arte Commedia theatre. They are Harlequin, a kind of egotist who likes all ladies more than one; Pierrot, the lover, son of the moon; Columbine, the lovely girl who loves only one man, Harlequin, and is determined to get him; Margot, Columbine's companion, whose sharp tongue tries to keep Columbine in the world of reality; Punchinello, the beggar who peddles all kinds of wares from egg beaters to magic slippers and wonder hats. The cast in this play includes Harlequin, Mary Pritchett; Pierrot, Mary Edwards; Columbine, Gloria Garber; Margot, Sarah Frances Powers; and Punchinello, Mary Powell.

The final play is "A Sunny Morning" by the Quientero Brothers, contemporary Spanish playwrights. It has to do with the meeting of an old lady and gentleman on a park bench. Each recognizes the other as a friend of former days but each conceals this knowledge from the other. Donna Laura is portrayed by Jean Derflinger and Don Gonzollo by Beryl Snellings; Virginia Moody plays the part of Petra, Dona Laura's servant, and Dick Spangler that of Juanito, Don Gonzollo's servant.

Opening Dance Tomorrow Night Bristow Announces Final Plans

Tomorrow night the opening dance of the year, sponsored by the Social Committee, will be held from 8:30 p.m.-11:50 p.m. in Reed Gym.

Music for the Hawaiian theme will be supplied by Gordon Chappel and his orchestra, of Clifton Forge; the Art club will be in charge of decorations and the refreshments are in charge of the Standards Committee.

The receiving line will be headed by Nancy Bristow, Social Committee Chairman, and includes Unity Chappel, chairman of the Standards Committee; Ann Myers; Dawn Brewer; Alice Hunter; Mildred Doub; Ann Bussy; Ginny Watson, and Margaret Jessup.

Chaperones and guests will include: Dr. and Mrs. Duke, Miss Vandeyer, Mrs. Garber, Dr. and Mrs. Pittman, Mr. and Mrs. Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott, Dr. and Mrs. Hamrick, Miss Latimer, Dr. and Mrs. Gildersleeve, and Dr. Frederickson.

Bids for the dance are $1.50 stag and $2.00 a couple. They are on sale

Committee Of Students, Faculty Select Girls On Basis Of Leadership, Scholastic Averages And Personality

Fifteen seniors have been chosen to represent Madison College in the 1946-47 edition of Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges. The girls were chosen by a committee of Madison students and faculty members and recommended to the national publication on the basis of their leadership ability, scholastic achievement and personality.

Choral Rehearsals Will Begin Soon

Tuesday evening, December 3, will usher in rehearsals for a gala Christmas Choral presentation. The program is to be made up of Christmas carols that have grown out of the Christmas customs of many peoples during the last 2000 years.

Dr. Gildersleeve, conductor of the chorus, announced that no tryouts will be necessary. Anyone who can carry a tune and "feels that Christmas would not be quite complete without a song in your heart and an outburst of joy in your voice" is urged to attend the first chorus rehearsal in Wilson Auditorium at 6:45, Tuesday night, December 3.

St. Clair To Play For Second Dance

The dance sponsored by the Panhellenic Council will be December 7. Jimmy St. Clair's orchestra will furnish the music. A gay setting appropriate for the season will be the theme.

Those in the receiving line are Nancy Bristow, president of the Social Committee; Janie Person; and presidents of the sororities, Betty Jo Stretchberry, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Rebecca Chappell, Pi Kappa Sigma; Jane Kirwin, Sigma Sigma Sigma; Jean Smith, Alpha Sigma Tau, and Mary Lee Moyer, Theta Sigma Upsilon.

Those eligible to attend are all sorority members, all seniors and sophomores.

Tryouts For Dance Groups To Be Held December 6, 7

Bids for the dance will be on sale Monday, December 2, in Amy Sanders's room, Messick House, 4. Cost of the bids will be $2.00 for students with dates and $1.50 for stags.

St. Clair's orchestra furnished music in Reed gym at the dance held on May Day last spring. There will be a vocalist with the orchestra.

NANCY BRISTOW

in Janie Person's room in Lincoln House. The dance is open to freshmen, juniors and their dates.

The girls honored are Alice Agnor, Claire Bennett, Unity Chappell, Marguerite Coffman, Hilda Davis, Laura Virginia Foltz, Mary Jane Fulton, Jane Hartman, Emily Leitner, Jeanette Pickrel, Margaret Ritchie, June Sterling, Betty Jo Stretchberry, Shirley Williams and Carolyn Woodfield.

Alice Agnor is president of the senior class, a member of the orchestra and Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. She is a music major.

Claire Bennett is editor of the 1947 Schoolma'am, a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, and is in the home economics curriculum.

Unity Chappell, head of the Standards Committee, is a secondary education student and a member of Pi Kappa Sigma.

Marguerite Coffman is president of the college orchestra and Lost Chords, a music major, and a member of Alpha Sigma Tau.

Hilda Davis is president of the Student Government Association, active in sports, and in the secondary education curriculum. She is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Y President Honored

Laura Virginia Foltz, president of YWCA, is a member of the orchestra, Alpha Sigma Alpha, and is a secondary education student.

Mary Jane Fulton is vice president of Student Government and is a member of Pi Kappa Sigma. She is a dietetics major and was president of last year's junior class.

Jane Hartman is president of the Athletic Association and was president of her freshman class. She is a physical education major and a member of Pi Kappa Sigma.

Emily Leitner is editor of The Breeze and a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha. A music major, she is also a member of the Glee club.

Jeanette Pickrel is vice president of AA and is a physical education major. Margaret Ritchie, president of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society, and secondary education student, is a member of Alpha Sigma Tau and the Glee club.

Certificates To Be Awarded

June Sterling is recorder of points for Student Government. She has served on the Social Committee and is a member of Alpha Sigma Alpha.

Betty Jo Stretchberry is president of Alpha Sigma Alpha and has been active in YWCA work. Shirley Wil-

Society To Publish Poems By Students

Janice M. Welch, a freshman from Hagerstown, Maryland, and Gladys L. Hostetter, a day student, have received notices from The National Poetry Association that their poems have been selected to be published in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

This Anthology is a collection of the finest poetry written by the college students of America. Selections were made from thousands of poems submitted. Janice Welch and Gladys Hostetter should be congratulated for this honor. Miss Welch's poem is entitled "McDowell," Miss Hostetter's "Rain."

Cruikshank To Be Assembly Lecturer

Mr. Allen Cruikshank, associated with the National Audubon Society, will be guest lecturer in assembly, Wednesday, December 4. He will speak on "South Along the Swannee."

Mr. Cruikshank was born in the Virgin Islands, West Indies, but received his formal education in New York City, majoring in biology and public speaking at New York University.

During World War II he served as an Army news and combat photographer. After the war he returned to the Audubon Society as a lecturer, instructor, and photographer.

"Y" NOTES

Thanksgiving Is Theme

Dr. Mary Latimer who was guest speaker in chapel today, used "Thanksgiving" as her theme.

Y To Sponsor Pageant

The annual Christmas pageant sponsored by the Y will be presented to the student body, Monday night, December 9 at 8 p.m. in Wilson Auditorium.

The candidates for the madonna will be chosen by the Y cabinet and then at assembly on Monday, December 2, the student body will vote. As is customary, the identity of the madonna will be kept a secret until the night of the pageant.

Birthday Banquet Held

The November birthday banquet was held in Senior dining hall last night. The dining hall was decorated by the members of Freshman Commission.

Follow-Up Planned

Although Religious Emphasis has ended we hope that the inspiration gained during this week will mean much to you throughout the remaining year. Plans for a "follow-up" of this week are being formulated by the Y cabinet. The details of these plans will be announced later.

Vespers Feature Music

Sunday vespers will be a musical program with group singing and solos. These solos will be both instrumental and vocal.

Congratulations

Fifteen leaders of our graduating class of 1947 have been chosen to represent Madison College in the nationally known "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

These girls were chosen for their scholastic record, their leadership ability, and their personality. It is rightly considered an honor to be selected by the committee to represent our college thus and we extend to this worthy group our hearty congratulations.

Because they contribute so much to our daily life here on campus and because they are always so willing to help us where help is needed and contribute their efforts to the cause of our good, we thank them. We consider them worthy of such recognition and are proud of them.

B. R.

Perpetual Emphasis

Religious Emphasis Week, which is annually sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association on campus has officially closed. Actually, it should be continued by all Madison students throughout the year.

The principles and ideas expressed and stressed by Miss Slattery at the many meetings which she held with students were very inspiring and should be carried with us in our work this year.

In the lives of many young people today religion seems to have been forgotten. Of course, at times it does not seem as though we have time to sit down and think, but actually most of us do have religion in our hearts.

Let's also give it a more prominent place in our minds and let religion guide us with our work and play every day.

M. R.

The True Spirit

"Thank goodness for Thanksgiving." Now I can catch up on my sleep." These are the sentiments we hear so often on our campus when Thanksgiving time draws near.

Besides sleep, most of us think of food—turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie; we think of football games and seeing old friends. All of these ideas are closely associated with Thanksgiving in the minds of today's students.

But what of the true meaning and purpose of Thanksgiving? How many of us attend special church services on Thanksgiving Day or give even a few minutes thought to the many blessings that God has bestowed upon us?

In days of old, our forefathers celebrated Thanksgiving Day as a day of prayer and Thanksgiving, but through the years we seem to have departed from the real idea of the occasion.

When Thanksgiving Day dawns next Thursday, let us all remember to give thanks to God—thanks for our educational opportunities, thanks for our religious freedom, thanks for America!

Martha. During an angry scene the infuriated Martha beats her aunt on the head with a cane killing her. The crime is witnessed by the born weakling Walter O'Neil, a playmate and both Martha and Walter think that Sammy Mastersen, another playmate, has seen it too.

Several years pass and Sam (Van Heflin) returns to Iverstown to find that Walter O'Neil (Kirk Douglas) is a candidate for reelection as District Attorney. Sam also discovers that Martha (Barbara Stanwyck) is now Mrs. Walter P. O'Neil, a dominate figure. When Sam appeals to Walter to help Toni Maracek (Elizabeth Scott) a paroled convict recently rejailed, obtain her freedom, Walter is sure that he is to be blackmailed.

Audiences will be held spellbound at the way the gripping tale unravels from this point.

Claudia loves David, David loves Claudia and how you'll love them both in Claudia and David which will be at the Virginia theater Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

On the way home to their Connecticut farm from a shopping trip in New York, David (Robert Young) tells Claudia (Dorothy McGuire) of his plans to attend an architects' convention in California and invites her to go with him.

Claudia stalls on her decision because she doesn't want to leave their three-year old son, Bobby.

At a party that night David becomes peroccupied with a charming widow—Elizabeth Doren (Mary Astor) and accepts the offer to plan a house for her. Claudia becomes very friendly with a Phillip Dexter (John Sutton), which is jealously noticed by Phillip's wife. After a confusing story quite cluttered up with a spiritual seance, jealously and Bobby's having a convulsion everything is finally settled and put in its proper place.

AMONG NEW BOOKS

By Jennie Snowden

Hong Kong Holiday—Emily Hahn

A crystal-clear picture of the oppressed city, its life in the bazaars, beauty shops, restaurants, and dens; among the rich and among the poor, in hospitals and interment camps is Hong Kong Holiday by the author of China to Me, Emily Hahn. It is the story of her experiences during the long months from Jap's capture of Hong Kong until she was returned home on the second trip of the Gripsholm. The virtue of this book lies in Miss Hahn's firsthand knowledge of life in a beleaguered city and her natural preoccupation with the reactions of human beings under stress.

As He Saw It—Elliot Roosevelt

Here is the book for every American who has ever asked himself what F. D. R. would do about world problems of today—who has wondered what plans for the future were made at the big conferences of Argentina, Casa Blanca, Cairo, Teheran, and Yalta. The answers, based upon discussions, notes, correspondence, firsthand observations and intimate talks, are here in As He Saw It by Elliot Roosevelt. It shows how far the world has moved from the paths and the plans that Franklin D. Roosevelt hoped, worked and prayed that it might follow.

The Sudden Guest—Christopher La Farge

The Sudden Guest is a novel of intention. That is, its story plot and characters are planned to move on three levels—The first level being the story itself, the experiences of an egocentric woman in the hurricanes of 1938 and 1944 in Rhode Island; the second attempts to demonstrate through the story that the egocentric character creates within its own lifetime, its own hell; and the third level is a parable of our time, for our time. This is the first novel Mr. La Farge has done since Each to the Other which was also a dual selection for the Book-of-the-month club.

Yellow Tapers for Paris—Bruce Marshall

Though not as good as his previous works, Mr. Marshall has created a warm and lovely novel, written with unique combination of wit and intelligent Catholic piety in Yellow Tapers for Paris. It is a tale of Paris on the eve of World War II, ending with the exodus from the city in June, 1940. The events are described as they affected a bookkeeper, his daughter, and their friends, thus viewing the war as it seemed to the "little" man.

Sergei Prokofieff—Israel Nestey

The composer of Peter and the Wolf, Lieutenant Kije and forthcoming opera, War and Peace, and a whole repertoire of instrumental, vocal, and theatrical music is an outstanding Russian artist and one of the foremost musicians of this century. Here are the chief events in the life of the colorful and genial man, Sergei Prokofiev; his adjustment to life in the Soviet Union, his fruitful collaboration with movie industry, and increased prestige both within and without his own country.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

In the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the United States, freedom of the press is granted to the people of America. Madison College is a unit of America, and as such, freedom of the press is granted to the students of the college. Why should not one of those students speak in a letter to the college newspaper without being publicly criticized and downed by some of the faculty?

Perhaps the return argument to the above will be that freedom of speech is also granted in the Bill of Rights. Freedom of speech is granted—to the students and faculty members, alike, of America. But should freedom of speech about individual differences between student and faculty member be practiced openly in class at the expense of the class' time, to say nothing of the embarrassment of the student being criticized? How can we hope to build a fine democracy of well-educated and understanding citizens if a faculty member of an American college sets an example of destructive criticism?

Destructive criticism has been aimed at the writer of a published letter expressing the consensus of student opinion about reserved seats for townspeople for college lyceums. The Breeze, an American newspaper, is for the free use of the students. Should not the students who choose to express themselves through the medium of the paper be protected by the college?

Very truly yours,
Betty Broome

VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By Barbara Cabe

A contempt of court citation has been served on John L. Lewis. His preliminary hearing before Federal Judge Goldsborough has been set for Monday.

Lewis holds that his miners no longer have a contract; that they are merely on a vacation and will return to work when a new contract is signed. But, the government says that the contract is still legal and that Lewis may either be fined or put in jail for contempt of court.

All was quiet in the coal fields up to last night except for the shooting of two U. M. W. officials in one W. Va. town. 400,000 soft coal miners are idle with the nation losing 2,000,000 tons of coal for every day they spend idle.

For the first time since 1919 Lewis is asking for a real showdown with the government by strutting arrogantly around and ordering another strike which will seriously cripple the social and economic welfare of the entire country for nobody knows how long. Lewis will fight to the end; he has no intention of backing down—because he thinks he can defy the U. S. government plus its courts and win! Surely we can't allow that!

The fact that the AF of L and the CIO are backing this would-be dictator will make the fight all the harder. The miners are the best paid organized group in the world and when the other unions back them so readily it will be no mean struggle. In fact, we can just start preparing for another depression.

Something To Chat About—

By Phyllis Epperson

Mr. Saunders' classes always prove interesting. In taking charge of an economics class Tuesday, he first made a remark about the nice classmates we had—the two skeletons in the room, Reed 8. Later while discussing the lack of progress in transportation between 1492 and 1807, he asked, to stress the lack of progress, "What came between 1492 and 1807?" Mary Alice Joyner wisecracked, "Three hundred years." Gee, she can count too.

Juniors always do have their troubles, but Ree Ree Mitchell seems to have the funny ones. The last straw broke when her Mother filled in the back of her permission card and forgot all about the front. As a result this sad junior will still be on campus Thanksgiving if Mother doesn't send a letter speeding to Madison "pronto." Sister Helen can go though—Mrs. Mitchell didn't forget her younger daughter.

On the Charlie McCarthy program recently, this conversation took place: Edgar Bergen: Mortimer, what is it that makes you so utterly stupid?

Mortimer: I dunno, but whatever it is—it sure works!

The story goes that in Latin class when the professor asked a certain student to translate "Reg fugit" "the king flees." "No!" replied the professor. "It's has fled." "Oh," he answered, "The king has fleas."

The West Virginia "Daily Athenaeum" offers this one for Kilroy fans: "I laugh with glee; I laugh with joy, 'Cause I came HERE before Kilroy."

Doris Sorenson, Manager Of Tea Room, Also Manages Homework

By Pat Ingram

The hard-working manager of the Tea Room, who somehow manages to keep things running smoothly in spite of a constant overflow of customers, is Miss Doris Sorenson.

Like the rest of us, Doris is a student here; and, unlike the rest of us, she plans to stay on here when she graduates in December. Through a thorough knowledge of her work Doris has gained the permanent position of manager.

Doris, who hails from Long Island, New York, majored in dietetics "because I have always been interested in people and the food they eat."

She unselfishly attributes the success of the tea room to the fine co-operation that employees give her, and the willing way in which those other students who major in dietetics carry out their part of the job.

Doris also enjoys art—"specially costume designing"—and loves listening to classical music.

On the lighter side, she is an avid baseball fan, and has spent many a happy hour loudly cheering the Brooklyn Dodgers to victory. She is still indignant over the way "Dem Bums" were cheated out of the pennant.

"Other than that," she explains regretfully, "my work keeps me from other activities that I would like to engage in, such as tennis and YWCA work."

Miss Mabel Gladin Attends Virginia Dietetics Meeting

Miss Mabel Gladin, college dietitian, and Miss Evelyn Wolfe, dietitian for the Rockingham Memorial hospital, attended the two day meeting of the Virginia Dietetic association held at the hotel John Marshall in Richmond on November 15 and 16.

Among the meetings that they attended were an executive committee and a special breakfast.

This 'n' That

Miss Peggy Van Reeth of Norfolk, Va. will be married Christmas to Ensign Robert Doell, U. S. N. Peggy was a former Breeze writer and member of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority.

E. J. Foster, a graduate of the class of '46, was married November 16th to Lt. (j.g.) Roy Neilson. Mr. and Mrs. Neilson will make their home in Baltimore.

Shirley Williams is weekendng at Duke.

Among those attending Openings at the University this weekend are Jane Pincus, Martha Ann Walton, Jerry Morris, Shirley Wilkins, Betty Sibert, Jane Kirwin, Helen Scarborough, and Jane Morgan.

Jeanette Pickrel, Lou Gettoeling, Lynn Mitchell, and Ellen Neathers will attend the Southern All-State hockey tournament in Washington this weekend. They will see Jane Hartman play with the Virginia Reserves.

Harriette Thomas, a Madison alumnae, was married November 16 to Bernard McGinnis, Ensign, USNR, in the Fort Meyer Chapel. After a honeymoon in Miami, the couple will make their home in Falls Church.

ASA Celebrates Founders Day With Formal Banquet

Beta Epsilon chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority celebrated its forty Founders Day, November 15, with a steak dinner in Senior dining hall. Betty Jo Stretchberry, president of the sorority, served as toastmistress, and Wanda Lewter, June Sterling and Martha Lee were included on the program.

Miss Marie Louise Boje and Miss Edythe Schneider, sorority advisors, and Miss Mary Louise Seeger and Mrs. Martz were also guests.

Christmas Seal Display By Madison Art Club

The Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Campaign display now in the window of the telephone company in Harrisonburg was done by the Madison Art Club.

Dr. Gifford Attends Commission Meet

Dr. Walter J. Gifford attended the first meeting of the commission to study teacher recruiting in Virginia on November 7. The Committee is headed by Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, president of Farmville State Teachers College.

The committee explored the causes for no one entering elementary teaching, as there are now approximately ten students preparing for high school teaching in proportion to one student for elementary teaching.

There are 3000 temporary teachers in Virginia now, some are well qualified, although they may have been out of work for several years, but many are just out of high school and some of these are even teaching in high school.

The next step to be taken by the committee will be the appointment of subcommittees to study salaries, selection of candidates, and community relations with teachers.

The Virginia Educational Association will take up this problem as one of its major problems when it meets at Thanksgiving.

Although the situation is nationwide, something definite and significant must be done to finance the schools and teachers of Virginia.

First Issue of French Club Journal Distributed

The first issue of "Le Journal Du Cercle Francais" made its appearance on campus today.

The quarterly publication was edited by Eugenia West with Leslie Hall and Phyllis Kempfer, assistant editor and art editor, respectively. The paper includes works of June Eaton, Carrie Lee Moore, Joyce Marjorie Pale, Doris Rainy, Velva Shumate and Leslie Hall. The copies were printed by the business department.

The works are in the form of news stories, a cross word puzzle, poem, short story, jokes, and an interview.

AST Pledges Elect Castles

The Alpha Sigma Tau pledges met Monday night and elected Jane Castles president. McClain Bowen was elected secretary and Francis Lynn, treasurer.

The Spotlight . . . By BERYL SNELLINGS

Ah, yes, what would life be without college? And even more so, what would college be without vacations? And what is vacation? Our ever-abiding, trustworthy friend, Mr. true-blue Webster says, "vacation—Being free from a duty, service, etc.; an intermission or rest; a period for rest and recreation." As a would-be carpenter would say, "Webster, old buddy, buddy, you did surely hit the nail on the head" Phop!

"A period for rest and recreation." Say yonder, one of knowledge, art thou the one who yearneth for hither quotation? Fellow-yearners, if you are at all human and possess a sense of happiness, you will answer, "yea, vain attempter of a sports writer, we do!"

And so the Thanksgiving holiday is drawing nearer and nearer. When Thursday rolls around, where will you be? At the corner drug-store; at the home-town movie; over at a friend's house spreading the glad word about Madison; seeking out the gal or guy who was left behind; at home with the folks; or will Thursday find you preparing for that annual Thanksgiving football game?

Yep, there's nothing like it—to go home! Don't know what you will be doing next Thursday, but one of the things yours truly hopes to do is to see a football game—a football game—that's one of the delights that comes with Thanksgiving. After that big turkey dinner is over, and thanks has been given for the many abilities and possessions we own, we begin to feel that old feeling rising in our hearts—that feeling of getting to the game!

Whether it will be at the local high school stadium or at the college stadium, you will find the same kind of thrill and excitement. There you are—can't you picture it now?

The stadium is packed with howling spectators; you wedge your way down to a seat, stepping on people, bumping into a grumpy old man, knocking over a little kid's "Coca-Cola" as you go rushing to get that seat before another person spots it. There, all around you, are friends whom you haven't seen in ages—Bill, Tom, Clara Bella, Daisy June, and look, there's Kilroy (how did he get here?). Gosh, what a day! Chills and thrills are running up and down your spine; the autumn winds blow like never before; it's cold, too, and there you sit waiting for the kickoff—Whoops! Somebody just stepped on you, (as you nimbly pick up your crushed fingers).

At last, the teams are lined up on the field awaiting the signal to begin the game, and there's the whistle blowing which commences the beginning of the classic. Pow!! The kickoff!! Everyone is standing up. Somebody in back of your just pounded you on the head; your neighbor by the side of you is giving you that rib punch everytime the ball-receiver adds another yard in his return back upfield; some over-enthused character is yelling in your ear as if it were a microphone by which he had to talk loud enough into for the people in the next state to hear him. You start cheering and before you can hardly begin to get warmed up, some morbid kill-joy in front of you turns around and gives you that old dagger look which is so concentrated that it penetrates your heart to make you feel as if you were the reason the Japs blasted Pearl Harbor.

Minutes flying, the game moves on. Thrill upon thrill; excitement overshadowed by more excited excitement; disappointing losses by the Alma Mater team; surprises, a sneak attack, a stop pass, a quick kick, a double-reverse, a fake kick, a plunge through center, a wide run around left end, a long, long pass into the end zone; the giving and taking of both teams; the bands playing stirring marches; cheerleaders knocking themselves out over their devotion to their team; the crowd giving out their all in ways of expressing spirit and love for that squad of fighting men down on the field. Glory! What a day! You feel all pepped up on the inside as if it's a hundred fourth of Julys breaking loose at one time. Can't you picture yourself keeping time with those fifteen rahs? Ah, yes, there's nothing like it! Have a nice holiday people.

Odds Triumph In Class Game

Madison Even and Odd class hockey teams played in the chill of late afternoon last Thursday on the hockey field. The Odds, sophomores and seniors, triumphed by a scant margin of 3-1.

Pickrel scored on a long run and Hartman pushed in a second goal for the Odds to end the first half 3-0.

Dickenson scored the Evens only goal for the game. Mitchell scored the last goal of the afternoon and the game ended 3-1 in the Odds favor.

The Even line-up consisted of: Anne Schultz, c., Cora Mapp, g.; Jean Cameron, r.f.; Annalee Messick, l.f.; Henrietta Lanier, ch.h.; Jane MacMurrin, l.h.; Dot Dickenson, r.i.; Marion Bates, l.i.; Betsy Johnson, l.w.; Bobbie Roberts, r.w.; and Jannie Modern, r.h.

Substitutes during the half were Mary Ellen Nethers, Dolly Elliott, Jo Hammond and Marie Parotta.

Miss Marbut officiated with Jo Hammond and Jane Hartman alternating as referees.

Hockey Team Holds Banquet For Coach

Miss Helen Marbut, Madison's hockey coach, was honored at a banquet given by thirty members of the hockey squad in the tea room last Wednesday evening.

Margaret Kash, hockey sports leader and co-captain of the team, awarded hockey emblems to Gracie Lee Van Dyck, Lou Goettling, Jane Grant, Dot Dickinson, and Lynn Mitchell. Jeanette Pickrel, Marianna Howard, Margaret Kash, Evelyn Dickson and, Jane Hartman will receive hockey emblems with an additional gold star to represent two years of playing on Madison's varsity hockey team.

As an expression of the team's gratitude, Kash presented Miss Marbut with a gift. Miss Marbut's rhymed response to the presentation was of her own original composition and was greatly appreciated by her hostesses.

Do people have more fun than anybody? These people do because they know the pleasure of taking part in sports. For that reason they and every member of the hockey squad are our AA Girls of the week; they are good sports.

This year more emphasis is being placed on intra-mural sports. Class teams and dormitory teams will be

Jane Hartman, co-captain and appointee for the South-Eastern Conference Reserve team, made a closing speech in behalf of the four graduating members of the team. Speaking for the team as a whole, she thanked Miss Marbut for the pleasure and work shared together during the season and for the success that was made possible by her unstinted interest and time spent with the girls.

Members of the team prepared and served the banquet.
